
Lost on the Carolina.

A telegram was received last week by Mr. J. W. Beall, who lives on route 3, stating that his son, Shellie Beall, who was on the ill-fated boat, the Carolina, which was sunk a few days ago by a German U-boat, was among the missing. Young Beall joined the colors last fall and before leaving for France was stationed at Camp Meade. If the above is true Mr. Beall is the first Chatham boy to lose his life while crossing the Atlantic.

Shellie Beall Lost while Crossing Atlantic

13 Jun 1918, The Chatham Record