

Become a Chatham Historical Museum Volunteer

If you think Chatham County history is worth saving and sharing, consider adding your time and talents to the dynamic Chatham Historical Museum volunteer team.

The Chatham Historical Museum is an all-volunteer effort, welcoming visitors from far and wide to stop, stay a while and soak up the history of the county. Our dedicated Museum volunteers give a voice to Chatham history.

Do you like working with children? Then consider joining our 4th Grade Field Trip team. Maybe you'd enjoy welcoming visitors interested in Chatham's story. Museum volunteers serve as greeters, docents, 4th Grade field trip leaders, re-enactors and in a myriad of other capacities. What is your talent? Some volunteers give time weekly.

Others pitch in every month or two, or fill in when most needed.

Think you don't know enough to help? We can fix that! All new volunteers receive training on the museum holdings and we'll start you off working with an experienced volunteer. Nobody needs to know it all. We provide a list of people to whom you can refer any questions you are not equipped to answer. You'll learn Chatham history and help pass it along to other interested people. It's a fun way to do good!

We have a great team in place and are about to begin our sixth year of welcoming visitors to the museum. We both share with and learn from the thousands of visitors who come to the museum each year because they are interested in Chatham's story.

Thinking about joining the team? Have questions? Contact our Museum Volunteer Coordinator, Patty Walters, at MuseumVolunteers@chathamhistory.org.

6Aug2018